

"ON BEING A REAL ARTIST"

From Dream to Reality - The Ultimate Guide to producing your music and Becoming a Recording Artist.

A philosophical approach to Composing, writing, recording and producing music.

Developing yourself and your style as well as building confidence as a recording artist. In this book I share my experience of overcoming creative blocks and defeatist attitudes while working on writing and recording my own music in the hope that I can help others who may be struggling to overcome their own creative obstacles. I talk about different approaches towards the creative process and how to overcome them including not being able to finish songs. I share both practical and creative solutions that helped me become more professional as a producer and as an artist. This book on becoming a real artist is designed for the bedroom producer or artist who is looking to produce their own music and who can't quite break free of the constant feeling of not being able to finish songs and I explore why this is and share the things I learned to help you have a more professional attitude towards your musical journey. I go into different aspects of composing, writing and production.

As artists we are who we are and sometimes this is the very thing that can get in the way of us being able to break free of our own limitations and create exactly what we want to and what we are capable of.

The book covers a lot of different topics that will help you to get your home studio organised and help you to improve your mental attitude towards producing and finishing your music with a more professional outlook. so i hope you join me and begin your journey to bring your idea's From Dream to Reality.
